

Cardwell Hill 2016 Dijon Blocks Estate Bottled Pinot Noir (Willamette Valley)

The winery makes a number of clone-based block selections. If there's a criticism to be made, it's that they tend to all taste alike. That said, they are forward, flavorful wines that should have wide appeal, especially given the modest prices. This full-bodied wine is loaded with flavors of strawberry preserves, along with hints of scorched earth, bitter greens and espresso.
